Take Simmons' Liver Regulator

For all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen. WILL CURE

DESPEPSIA.

I MUST OWN that your Simmons' Liver Regulator fully deserves the popularity it has attained. As a fam ly medicine it has no equal. it cured my wife of a mala dy I had counted incurable -that wolfsbane of our American people, Dyspepsia.
A. E. P. ALBERT,
Professor in Nicholas Public School, Parish of Terrelevant. rebonne, La.

BLALARIOUS FEVERS

You are at liberty to use my name in praise of your Regulator as prepared by you, and re-commend it to every one as the best preventive for Fever and Ague in the world. I plant in southwestern Georgia, near Albany, Georgia, and must say that it has done more good on my plantation among my negroes than any medi cine I ever used. It supersedes quinine if taken in time. Yours, &c., Hon. B. H. HILL, Ga. CHILDRENI-Your Regulator is superior to any oth er remedy for Malarial Diseases among children, and it has a large sale in this section of Georgia.—[W. ht. Russell, Albany, Ga.

CONSTIPATION. TESTIMONY OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF GEORGIA .- I have used Simmons' Liver Regulator for constipation of my bowels, caused by a temporary derangement of the liver, for the last three or four years, and always, when used according to the directions, with decided beneft. I think it is a good medicine for the derangement of the liver—at least such has been my personal experience in the use of it.

HIRAM WARNER,

Chief Justice of Georgia.

SICK HEADACHE. EDITORIAL-We have tested its virtues, personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Tarobbing Hondache, it is the bost medicine the world eversaw. We have tried forty other remedies before Simmons' Liver Regulator, but none of them gave us more than temporary relief; but the Regulator not only relieved but cured us.—[Editor Tele-graph and Messenger, Ma-con, Ga.

COLIC AND GRUBBS IN HORSES. Having had during the last twenty years of my life to attend to Racing Stock, and baving my hie to attend to thating Stock, and baying had so much trouble with them with Colic, Grubbs, &c., gave me a great deal of trouble. Having heard of your Regulator as a cure for the above diseases, I concluded to try it. After trying one Package in Mask I found it to cure in every instance. It is only to be tried to prove what I have said in its praise. I can send you certificates from Augusta, Clinton and Macon

A Washington Romance.

In a collection of rare and valuable autograph letters we find the accompanying letter written by Gen. Washington at the age of twenty-six and never before made public. The present owner purchased it in England some years ago for the sum of £15, where it was probably taken by members of the Fairfax family of Virginia. The letter is addressed to Sarah Fairfax, at Belvoir. This lady was a Miss Cary, to whom Washington at one time offered his hand, but was refused for his friend and comrade George William Fairfax. Irving asserts that it was a sister of Mrs. Fairfax, Miss Mary Cary, afterward Mrs. Edward Ambler. We have the authority of Mrs. Constance C. Harrison, a descendant of Lord Fairfax, who says in a paper called "A Little Centennial Lady," published in Scribner's Monthly of July last, that Sally Cary, Mrs. Fairfax, was the lady for whom Washington had a tenderness. Mrs. Harrison

It is fair to say that papers which have never been given to the public set this question beyond a doubt. Mrs. George William Fairfax the object of George Washington's early and passionate love, lived to an advanced age in Bath, England, widowed, childless and utterly infirm. Upon her death, at the age of eighty one, letters, still in possession of the Fairfax family, were found among her effects, showing that Washington had never forgotten the influence of his youthful disappointment. It is hardly probable that Washington means to express his love for Mrs. Custis, to whom he alluded here, for her busband was then livingin fact, did not die until twenty odd years after the date of this letter. For the matter of that, Mrs. Fairfax's husband did not die until 1787 The following letter is, without doubt, one of those letters which Mrs. Harrison declares will "set this question beyond a doubt." It will be found very interesting, as it shows Wash ington in quite a new light. Even as a lover he has all the stateliness of the General and the Father of His Conntry: -- CAMP AT FORT CUMBERLAND, !

DEAR MADAM: Yesterday I was honored with your shore out very agreeable favor of the 1st lost-how yfully I catch at the bappy eccision of a re newing a correspondence which I feared was disrelished on your part, I leave to time that never failing exposurer of all things-and to a monitor equally fai hful in my own breast to esuly. In silence I now express my joy. Silence, which, in some cases-I wish the pres eat-speaks mere intelligently than the sweet est elequence. If you allow that may bonour can be derived from my opposition to our present system of management you destroy the merit of it en tirely in me by attrionting my anxiety to the when—I need not name is—guess yourself—should not my own Honor and country's welfare be the exettement. Tis true, I professmyself a votary of hove—I acknowledge that a lady is in the case—and further I confess that this lady is known to you.—Yes, madam, as well as she is to one who is too sensible of her charms to deny the Power whose Influence be feels and must ever submit to. I feel the force of ber amiable beauties in the recollection of a thousand tender passages that I could wish to obliterate, till I am bid to revive them,—but experience, alas! sadly reminds me how impossible this is, -and evinces an opinion which I have long entertained, that there is a Destiny which has the sovereign control of our actions—not to be resisted by the strongest efforts of Human Nature. You have drawn me dear madam, or rather I have drawn myself, into an honest confession of a simple Fact - misconstrue not my meaning -doubt it not, nor expose it-The world has no business to know the object of my Love-declared in this manuer to—you—when I want to conceal it. One thing above all things in this world I wish to know, and only one person of your acquaintance can solve me that or guess my meaning—but adieu to this till happier times, if I ever shall see them. The hours at present are melancholy dull, neither the rugged toils of war, nor the gentler conflict of A B-3 is in my choice. I dare believe, you are as happy as you say. I wish I was happy also Mirth, good humer, case of mind and-what mate your wishes. If one agreeable lady could almost wish her self a fine gentleman for the sake of another; I apprehend, that many fine gentlemen will wish themselves finer e'er Mrs. Spotswood is possest. She has already become a reigning toast in this camp; and many there are in it, who intend (fortune favoring) to make honorable scars speak the fullness of their merit and be a mes senger of their Love to Her.

I cannot easily forgive the unseasonable haste of my last express, if he deprived me thereby of a single word you intended to add, -the time of the present messenger is, as the last might have been, entirely at your disposal. I can't expect to hear from my friends more than this once before the fate of the expedition will some how or other be determined. I therefore beg to know when you set out for Hampton and when you expect to return to Belvoir againand I should be glad also to hear of your speedy departure as I shall thereby hope for your return before I get down; the disappoint
